

OLE HANSEN

HEAD OF COMMODITY STRATEGY SAXO BANK

Ole Hansen joined Saxo Bank in 2008 after a 20-year career in London and has been Head of Commodity Strategy since 2010. He focuses on delivering strategies and analyses of the global commodity markets defined by fundamentals, market sentiment, and technical developments. Hansen is the long-time author of the widely distributed Saxo Weekly Commodity Update, which covers the news and outlook for the major commodities, from oil and gas to industrial metals and agricultural products. Elsewhere, he offers almost daily insights on the commodity market for the popular Saxo Market Call, a unique daily podcast hosted by the Saxo Strategy team that synthesizes coverage across asset classes. Hansen is also a frequent guest on major global business TV networks and a regular contributor of commentary on the commodity markets to the financial press.

