

VANDANA HARI

FOUNDER & CEO
VANDA INSIGHTS

Vandana Hari is Founder & CEO of Vanda Insights, a Singapore-based provider of insights on the global oil markets. She has 25 years of experience providing intelligence on the global energy markets to stakeholders in the petroleum industry, policy-makers, and wealth managers. Before launching Vanda Insights in 2016, Vandana served in leadership positions at S&P Global Platts, a leading information agency for global energy, petrochemicals, metals and agricultural markets. Her tenure at Platts included managing news reporting and price assessment operations, research and analysis, business strategy and execution, and stakeholder engagement. Vandana has a bachelor's degree in science from India's MD University and post-graduate diplomas in communication and social journalism. She is a regular speaker at international energy conferences, extensively quoted in business press around the world, and an oil columnist for the Nikkei Asian Review. Vandana is a frequent commentator on Indian business TV and international radio and TV networks including Bloomberg, CNBC, BBC, Al Jazeera, Russia-24, Radio Television Hong Kong, Australia's 2GB, and Singapore's Channel News Asia.
